EIGHT ANTIOCH BOYS OFF TO THE COLORS

Many Gather to Bid Them God-Speed--Band and School Children Help

CELEBRATE AT WAUKEGAN

When the forty-seven draftees from District No. 2, leave Waukegan this (Thursday) evening for Jefferson Barracks, Mo., there will be included in the number eight young men from this village. Their names are: John B. Fields, Harry Radtka, John Mueller, Archie Mapletorpe, Harry Cushing, Milton Russel Park, Frank A. Cobb, and Joe Fernandez. The latter while not exactly an Antioch boy has been employed at the Sales and Service Co. for some time and is well known here. And although he was not included in the present draft, his number would in all probability be in the next called, so he made a trip to Chicago Wednesday and secured permission to go with the boys with whom he was acquainted.

This is the largest number of boys that has left Antioch for the purpose of joining the colors, at any one time, and the announcement that they were to go has brought the war very close to home.

The young men were instructed to report to the board at 1:30 this afternoon and be prepared to spend the afternoon in Waukegan and to leave for Jefferson Barracks at 7:11 this evening. According to present plans they are to be given one of the largest ovals even held in the city of Waukegan.

The program is as follows:

The 47 drafted men and their families will be served with supper at the First Baptist church at 5:30 o'clock sharp.

At 6:30 p. m. sharp a parade will form at the south end of the Genesee street viaduct. The parade will be made up as follows:

- Platoon of police.
- National colors.
- Naval station band.
- Waukegan Volunteer Training corps.
- National colors.
- The Grand Army veterans.
- Spanish war veterans.
- Fife and Drum Corps.
- The 47 drafted men.
- The Boy Scouts.
- High School band.
- High School cadets.
- General public.

It is planned to have the parade get in motion at 6:40 p. m. sharp. The line of march will be North on Genesee to Clayton, west to Utica, south to Washington, east to Sheridan Road, north to Madison and east to the North Western.

It was not the desire of the boys to have elaborate ceremonies attend their departure from Antioch, as each had their own plans and wished to spend their last few days at home in their own way. But the citizens deemed it fitting that a little "send off" be given them any way. Their plan was to leave town at eleven o'clock this morning in autos, accompanied by relatives and friends. Accordingly at that hour the bells of the town were set to ringing, the teachers and pupils of the grade school formed in line and bearing a large number of flags assembled at the opera house corner to bid them good bye. The high school students were also present and a large number of citizens gathered to witness their departure.

The Antioch band played several selections and a photograph of the departing ones was taken. Quite a delegation of Antioch friends accompanied them to Waukegan.

"Doctoring" Heliotropa. The delicate heliotrope is scarce and unprofitable to the perfumer. He detects in its odor, however, the aroma of vanilla combined with the sharper scent of bitter almonds. Therefore, he adds to a tincture of vanilla a small quantity of the otto of bitter almonds and rose and orange flower essence, and thus easily makes extract of heliotrope.

Allow Extra 25 pounds of Sugar for Preserving

The food administration has decided that each housewife is to be permitted an extra allowance during the canning and preserving season.

New rules, which were given out last Thursday by Robert Stevenson, Jr., head of the sugar division of the Illinois office of the food administration give directions to all dealers. Mr. Stevenson said that the situation had improved recently and that the new rules, which take effect May 1, are easier than those imposed during the recent shortage. The main features of the new rules follow:

Wholesale dealers may deliver not to exceed a 10-day supply to the retail distributor or manufacturer of non-essentials, such as confectionery, soft drinks and commodities of a similar nature.

They may deliver not to exceed a 30-day supply to bakeries and manufacturers of essential foodstuffs.

All deliveries should be based on allotments previously made by the sugar division of the food administration. Prior to May 1 deliveries are not to exceed 10 bags.

The limit of sales to the consumer is to remain at five pounds in the city and ten pounds in the country, except where special division is made for canning and preserving. Dealers are warned that if they are too liberal in making these special sales the amount will be taken out of their allotment.

A New Drug Store to Locate in Antioch

J. N. Pacini has sold his confectionery business to Mr. W. J. Richards, of Chicago, who plans to open a first class drug store in connection with the ice cream and confectionery business formerly conducted by Mr. Pacini.

Mr. Richards is a registered pharmacist, with several years of experience, which has been the means of acquainting him with the business requirements of a first class drug store in Chicago, and the demands of a country drug store as well. He informs us that he will carry a full and complete line of drugs, drug sundries, toilet articles, stationery etc., and that special and personal attention will be given to the filling of prescriptions. He will also conduct a first class ice cream parlor, and will give special rates to lodges, parties, etc., purchasing a quantity.

Mr. Richards already has his stock of drugs on the way and will take possession of the place Saturday morning. We welcome him into the business circle of our village and wish him a most successful sojourn here.

Grace Welch, France, Tells of Her Injury

The many friends of Miss Grace Welch, formerly a teacher in the Grade school here, will be glad to know a letter has been received, telling of the accident which befell her in France.

"I have been a patient myself for five weeks," she writes to a DeKalb friend. "One morning while at work in the ward, I twisted my knee cap off and have since been strapped to a splint. They brought me to hospital for sick nurses and I am having far more attention than any one would expect to get in France today. This is a house rented by the British three years ago for sick nurses and has been necessary every since. Nurses are not supposed to get sick, of course, but they do, anyway. There are 35,000 hospital beds within a radius of five miles, so you see there are a large number of nurses in the near vicinity."

King-Pacini Suit Decided in Favor of the Defendant

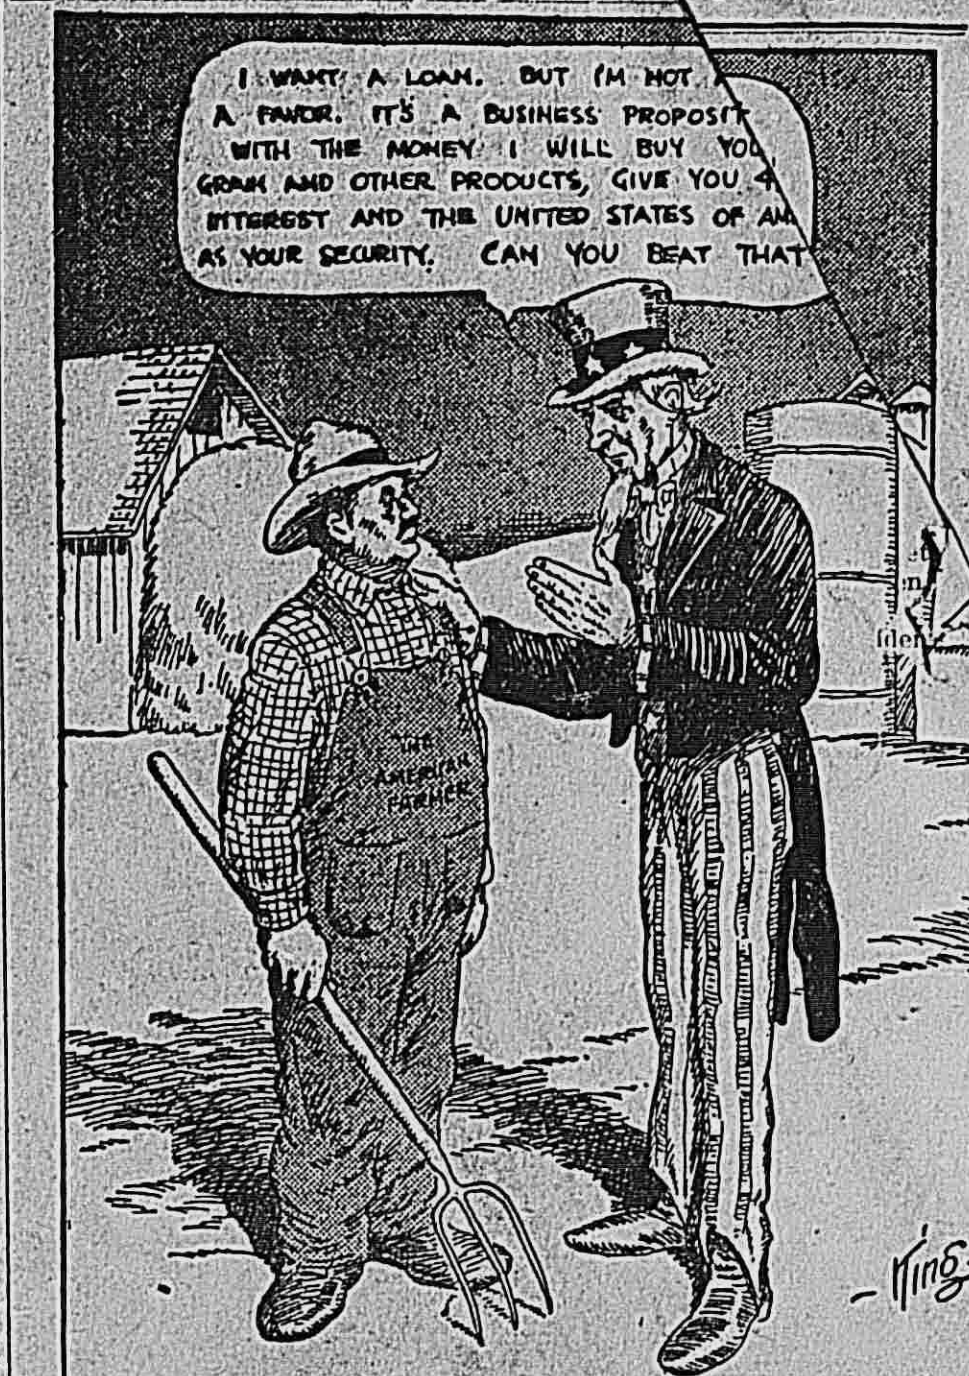

Some little time ago a bargain was made between Frank R. King and John Pacini, whereby the former was to purchase the ice cream and confectionery business of the latter, and to bind the bargain the sum of two hundred dollars was paid down. Later however some kind of a difference arose between the parties and the deal fell through. But that was not the end of it. Pacini thought he was entitled to the money already paid down, his point of view being that King was the one who had backed out. King however had a different view of the matter and with the claim that he tendered the rest of the payment which Pacini had refused, he entered suit in the Justice court to recover his money.

A change of venue was taken and the case was called before J. C. James on Friday afternoon. Attorneys Runyard and King represented King's side of the case while Orvis and Block represented the defendant. After hearing the evidence, the jury which consisted of A. W. Daily, Chas. Smith, B. A. Trieger, Gus Trieger, John King and T. A. Somerville returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

It is quite probable that the case will be carried up.

Vive Clemenceau!
A Lesson by the Warrior of the Stout Heart.
By GUY F. LEE.

"Give me six months to live," Clemenceau, seventy-seven, leader of France, said to his doctor Thursday. "That's all I want."

Six months that he may see the Hun driven from the soil of his fathers.

Six months that he may see a start toward the restoration of those quaint and beautiful towns, now only broken fragments of desolation and despair.

Six months that he may see the husbandry of peace again tilling the shell-torn ground for the return of the flowers and grass and trees.

Six months that he may see the homecoming of "le grande armee"—a sound cheer for the millions marching along the Champs Elysee, and weep tears for the millions back there who are not coming home save in the hearts of the world.

It will be a busy six months for Clemenceau; 24 hours a day, his daily program. His words to the doctor:

"Tell me frankly if I can carry on for the next six months in that devil of a way I carry on now; six months is all I want."

Stout heart of a nation of stout hearts: may you have sixty times the six months you ask!

Such nobility, such courage, will spur our soldiers on to added fighting zeal. For us at home it is a message that should bring quickly the zero hour when the Liberty loan goes over the top!

Uncle Sam's Note.

When the government sells bonds, it takes no money out of the country. What it does is to ask the farmer, the manufacturer, and the laborer to sell their products on time and it gives an interest-bearing note in advance, until you and those other producers can make the supplies to conduct the war. The war department can't shoot horses and lots and grain at the Germans. It asks the producers to grant it the credit first and then get busy and make the supplies it needs, and when your government has on its hands the biggest war the world ever knew, there is no time for trifling. Invest in bonds and see Uncle Sam and yourself through.

Bonds Are the Farmer's Friend.

Every farmer should purchase Liberty bonds. By doing so he lends his government money to provide a merchant marine to carry his produce to the four corners of the world.

WOMEN AND THE LIBERTY LOAN

By MARION LUCE.

American women are protected from the hardships of the trenches by the courage of the American men. It will never be necessary to recruit an American Battalion of Death—but in the other two branches of war service women can and must take their places.

Women are taking men's places in the workshop, the office, even in the fields. "Wherever there is work to do, American women will do it. No other nation has given its women so much—none other deserves so much from them."

Women can invest in Liberty bonds. Women can curtail waste and stimulate thrift, and invest in more Liberty bonds.

When women save money to invest in Liberty bonds, they serve doubly, for they release all the labor and the materials that would have been used in manufacturing the things they didn't buy, at the same time aiding their government in continuing America's holy war.

Women Must Save and Work.

Women, stand beside our fighting boys in spirit! Keep up the morale of our army by unflinching courage and heroic devotion at home. The Third Liberty Loan points your duty—the third nationwide call to universal service—the third sword sharpened for victory in the forge of freedom.

America must win—it dares not fail—it is America, the unconquered, that calls.

Women, it is said, spend nine-tenths of all the money that is spent. Let every woman scrutinize her family budget. She must do the major part in taking her family's share of Liberty bonds. Upon the women of America must rest, in a large measure, the success of the Third Liberty loan.

To the American Mother.

A boy, yours or your neighbor's, lies shivering in the trenches "over there." Wet, cold, weary, or worse yet, on the stretches of No Man's Land, wounded, alone, dying. You cannot bear for him one agony; you cannot give him life, health or happiness. But if all America does her duty you can give to every American lad who goes over the top the glory of hope—the reasonable certainty of victory—the emulation of knowing that he does not die in vain—that America has risen as one to make the world fit for life, fit for home, fit for freedom.

Invest in Liberty bonds now. Subscribe until it hurts. Take what you can outright, and take on the installment plan as many as you can stagger under.

Remember—it's no longer "do your bit," but do your all. Hold fast for victory!

Letters From Our Soldier Boys

Somewhere in France

Mrs. Claude Brogan, Antioch, Illinois.

Dear Madam:

I am writing to you in behalf of the Antioch Woman's club in acknowledgment of a package of useful articles which I received from you last week and hereby take this means of expressing my heartiest appreciation for this courtesy and appreciation. The contents of this package arrived intact and consisted of tooth paste, lemon snaps, candy, court plaster, etc.

I am sure that if the opportune time ever presents itself I certainly will reward you very highly for this consideration, inasmuch as they are such practical articles especially when one is so many miles from home.

Am perfectly contented in every respect and army life "over here" has certainly agreed with me in every respect physically as I don't believe I have ever felt better in all my life.

We have very cozy beds and our eats are very good, indeed, I can assure you all that Uncle Sam is taking mighty good care of his boys in every respect.

Wishing the Woman's club all the best in the world and trusting that after finds all the members enjoying the best of health and happiness.

Very sincerely yours, Eugene A. Brown, via N. Co. 'C', A. E. F. France, 503rd Eng., Service Batt. A. E. F. France.

My Dear Mother and Father:—

Well mamma I received your welcome letter yesterday and was glad to hear from you as it was a while since I got one, but I can't blame you at all as you people had an awful winter. But it will soon be summer now and you can go to the mat more often. I had a letter from Mamma yesterday. I guess they had their of trouble this winter and the Stacks too. Say ma my ink ran out so will have to use a pencil but maybe you can make out part of this anyway.

I am fine and hoping you are the same and so Joe has to go, Mamma said he might not go till March first, but her letter was over a month getting here so he has probably gone now. But I don't think he will be gone long as I think I will be home before Xmas. How is Jim and Maggie? Got a letter from Jim yesterday and also Julia, the first mail I've had in quite a while. Julia says Billie is a great kid; I would like to see him and Marcella I bet I won't know them when I get back. I got another package from Antioch and it sure was good. Have pa tell John Morley and thank him and Claude for them, they put their names on the cigarettes.

Well, there is no news that I can write. I have not seen Bill Moran, but I heard he is o. k. Well will close hoping to hear from you soon. I am as ever your son, John L. Rogan, 503rd Eng., Sln. Batt. Co. 'C', via New York A. E. F., France.

LOSES HIS JOB, AN EVENT OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

of Livonia, Ferdinand William Otto, by his aunt, tired of the singing and he makes the acquaintance of Bobby. Returning to the palace at night, he found as a result of the search which has been made night the chancellor calls to consult the old king, who is very ill. The chancellor suggests the kingdom, the friendship of the neighboring prince, secured by giving the Princess Hedwig in marriage to that country. Countess Loschek, lady-in-waiting of the king, is in love with King Karl. Hedwig's mother, in love with King Karl, prevents his marriage to Hedwig. Hedwig, who loves Otto, Otto's aide camp, is dismayed when told of the plans. Countess Loschek sends a secret message to King Karl. Hedwig is attacked by agents of the terrorists and a messenger is substituted. Captain Larisch, unaware of the substitution, captures Karl's chauffeur and secures the envelope. The captain releases Karl's chauffeur and exchanges the sheet within the envelope for some cigarette papers. On delivering the envelope to Larisch, he is made prisoner when the deception is discovered. Larisch, chancellor of Livonia, goes to Karl and arranges with him for his marriage to Hedwig. Karl thereupon releases Captain Larisch.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued.

quay receded, red carpet and all. The crown prince, with the persistence of a bulldog, followed them for some time.

It was Hedwig who showed the most depression on the trip, after all. Early that morning she had attended mass in the royal chapel. All the household had been there, and the king had been wheeled in, and had sat in his box, high in the wall, the door of which opened on his private suite.

Looking up, Hedwig had seen his old face set and rigid. The court worn black, and the chapel was in crepe. She had fallen on her knees and had tried dutifully to pray for the dead Hubert. But her soul was crying out for help for the living.

Now she sat very quiet, and wondered about things. Ferdinand William Otto sat beside her and watched the green hills fly by.

When he was looking, he broke out in a cold sweat and flung it. He was looking at the crown prince, who was looking at him. He was looking at the crown prince, who was looking at him. He was looking at the crown prince, who was looking at him.

Late that evening, old Adelbert's problem having been solved, Pepy the maid and Bobby had a long talk. Pepy sat in a low chair by the tiled stove in the kitchen, and knitted a stocking with a very large foot.

"What I want to know is this," said Bobby, swinging his legs on the table: "What are the terrorists?"

Pepy dropped her knitting, and stared with open mouth. "What know you of such things?" she demanded.

"Well, terrorists killed the crown prince's father, and—"

Quite suddenly Pepy leaped from her chair, and covered Bobby's mouth with her hand. "Hush!" she said, and stared about her with frightened eyes.

Then, in a whisper: "They are everywhere. No one knows who they are, nor where they meet. I myself, she went on impressively, "crossing the place one night late, after spending the evening with a friend, saw a line of cats moving in the windows. One of them stopped and looked at me." Pepy crossed herself. "It had a face like the Fraulein in there."

Bobby stared with interest through the doorway. The governess did look like a cat. "Maybe she's one of them," he reflected aloud.

"Oh, for God's sake, hush!" cried Pepy, and fell to knitting rapidly. Nor could Bobby elicit anything further from her. But that night, in his sleep, he saw a crown prince, dressed in velvet and ermine, being surrounded and attacked by an army of cats, and went, shivering, to crawl into his mother's bed.

CHAPTER X.

The Committee of Ten. On the evening of the annual day of mourning, the party returned from the fortress. The archduchess slept. The crown prince talked, mostly to Hedwig, and even she said little. After a time the silence affected the boy's high spirits. He leaned back in his chair on the deck of the launch, and watched the flying landscape.

It was almost dark when the launch arrived at the quay. The red carpet was still there, and another crowd. Had Prince Ferdinand William Otto been less taken up with finding one of his kid gloves, which he had lost, he would have noticed that there was a scuffle going on at the very edge of the red carpet, and that the beggar of the morning was being led away, between two policemen, while a third, running up the river bank, gingerly deposited a small round object in the water, and stood back. It was merely one of the small incidents of a royal outing, and was never published in the papers. But Father Gregory, whose old eyes were far sighted, had seen it all. His hand—the hand of the church—was on the shoulder of the crown prince as they landed.

The boy looked around for the little girl of the bouquet. He took an immense interest in little girls, partly because he seldom saw any. But she was gone.

When the motor which had taken them from the quay reached the palace, Hedwig roused the archduchess, whose head had dropped forward on her chest. "Here we are, mother," she said. "You have had a nice sleep."

But Annuncata muttered something about being glad the wretched day was over, and every one save Prince Ferdinand William Otto seemed glad to get back. The boy was depressed. He felt, somehow, that they should have enjoyed it, and that, having merely endured it, they had fulfilled him again.

The countess, having left her royal mistress in the hands of her maids, went to her own apartment. She was not surprised, on looking into her mirror, to find herself haggard and worn. It had been a terrible day. Only a second had separated that gaping lens in her bag from the eyes of the officers about. Never, in an adventurous life, had she felt so near to death. Even now its cold breath chilled her.

However, that was over, well over. She had done well, too. A dozen pictures of the fortress, of its guns, of even its mine chart as it hung on a wall, were in the bag. Its secrets, so securely held, were hers, and would be Karl's.

It was a cunningly devised scheme. Two bags, exactly alike as to appearance, had been made. One, which she carried daily, was what it appeared to be. The other contained a camera, tiny but accurate, with a fine lens. When a knob of the fastening was pressed, the watch slid aside and the shutter snapped. The pictures when enlarged had proved themselves perfect.

Pleading fatigue, she dismissed her maid and locked the doors. Then she opened the sliding panel, and unfurled the safe. The roll of film was in her hand, ready to be deposited under the false bottom of her jewel case. Within the security of her room, the countess felt at ease. She even sang a little, a bit of a ballad from her native mountains.

Still singing, she carried the jewel case to her table, and sat down before it. Then she put a hand to her throat.

The lock had been forced.

Countess Loschek is summoned to appear before the Committee of Ten, leaders of the terrorists, where she is confronted with a terrifying demand. The next installment tells of this startling development.

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

Mrs. Despard, a sister of General French, is said to have refused more than 500 applications for newspaper interviews after her return from visiting her brother at the front.

"If I Were a King I'd Make People Stand Around."

But has the crown prince only a grandfather, and no father?"

"He died—the boy's father. He was murdered, and the princess his mother also."

Bobby's eyes opened wide. "Who did it?"

"Terrorists," said old Adelbert. And would not be persuaded to say more.

That night at dinner Bobby Thorpe delivered himself of quite a speech, when the sour-faced governess looked at her plate, he slipped a bit of food to his dog, which waited beside him.

"There's a very nice old man up stairs," he said. "He has a fine sword, and ring doves, and a wooden leg. And he used to rent opera glasses to the crown prince, only he turned them around. I'm going to try that with yours, mother. We had sausage together, and he has lost his position, and he's never been on the scene railway, father. I'd like some tickets for him. He would like riding, I'm sure, because walking must be pretty hard. And what I want to know is this: Why can't you give him a job, father?"

"What sort of a job, son? A man with one leg?"

"He doesn't need legs to chop tickets with."

The governess listened. She did not like Americans. Barbarians they were, and these were of the middle class, and these were in trade. For a scenic railway being in trade. Except that they were, naturally. Except that they were, naturally. Except that they were, naturally.

"So the old soldier is out of work," mused the head of the family. Head, thought the governess! When they thought the governess! When they thought the governess! When they thought the governess!

"Suppose," said the winking, "that you run up after dinner, Bob, and bring him down. Now sit still, young man, and finish. There's no such hurry as that."

And in this fashion did old Adelbert become ticket chopper of the American Scenic Railway.

And in this fashion, too, commenced and old friendship between him and the American lad that was to have a vital effect on the very life itself of the Crown Prince Ferdinand.

William Otto of Livonia.

man was influential, and by this new policy of substituting fresh blood for stale, the government had made many enemies among them.

The old man's bitterness had been increased by two things. First, although he had been dismissed without notice, in the middle of the week, he had been paid only up to the hour of dismissal. That was a grievance. Second, being slow on his feet, one of the royal motor cars had almost run him round for being in the way.

At last he determined to find Haeckel, the student. He did not know his Christian name, nor where he lodged. But he knew the corps he belonged to, by his small gray cap with a red band.

BRITISH NAVAL RECORDS HOLD TALES OF FIGHTS WITH U-BOATS

Stories in Brief Form Reveal German Savagery and Frightfulness, With Occasional Touches of Comedy—Many Describe Hairbreadth Escapes and Gallant Defense by British Sailors.

London.—In a big room in Whitehall there are kept all the records of British merchant ships' encounters with U-boats. There they are, volumes and volumes of the most damning evidence, indelible for all time, of German savagery and British bravery. Ever since Germany's cold-blooded frightfulness at sea began these records have been piling up in this room; and only now are they being allowed to see the light.

They tell of all kinds of ships, from big liners down to tiny schooners. All are short, but realistic, testifying to the British merchant sailors' behavior against the ugliest methods of German warfare. They tell of fights with submarines, often against enormous odds, and of hairbreadth escapes; of gallant rescues and perilous adventures in small boats on the open seas; of German submarine crews who jeered at their victims, and of some few cases where the German crews helped to rescue them.

Here is a typical story of a fight between a merchantman with a little gun and a U-boat. It is perhaps one of the longest of the records.

There was a heavy sea, with squalls of rain, and the time was five minutes to three in the morning. The captain says:

Sighted Submarine Ahead.
"Almost immediately I sighted a submarine right ahead, crossing from starboard to port. It was a very big one, and there were four or five men around the conning tower. I put helm hard a-starboard and tried to ram him, but missed by feet, as I could hear the men shouting aboard her. As soon as I saw I had missed her I swung out to the gun's crew: 'Look out close on port side there!' and I put the helm hard a-port to bring the enemy astern.

"Almost immediately afterward I heard the report of my gun, and, turning round, saw a big bright flareup in the water in the port quarter like a big explosion. This was verified by the gun's crew, the second officer and the mate, who was the spotting officer. About ten minutes afterward I noticed what appeared to be the wake of a torpedo passing along the port side, and I shouted the gun's crew: 'Look out port quarter again!' and put the helm to port; but as I was calling out my orders second officer and gun's crew observed the bow and stern wake of a submarine on port quarter steering parallel to us and coming on at a good speed.

"We fired on him, but made no hit, and I ordered the men to cease fire, as I hoped to escape in the darkness, and the flash of the gun was very brilliant, it being a dark night. I then ordered the chief engineer to get his men down the stokehold and drive the vessel to his utmost, and ordered the gun's crew to stand by gun, and every one to put a lifebelt on."

The captain continues with a fine touch of unintentional bravado:

Felt Enemy Was Pursuing.
"As the officers had not yet had their coffee I told the steward to get it for them and went back to the bridge and spoke to the second officer about keeping a sharp lookout, as I felt somehow that the enemy was chasing us."

He was, sure enough, for, adds the captain:

"About twenty minutes past six o'clock I went below to the chart room to get our position again, and almost immediately I heard a terrific explosion on the port side. I ran up on the bridge and ordered all boats out and called the wireless operator to send out an S O S and give our position. As his machine broke down almost immediately we got no reply. A few seconds after the first explosion I heard the heavy, dull, explosions from the bursting boilers and the ship was involved in steam, smoke and fumes."

A few minutes later the vessel sank and, as most of the boats were smashed, the captain and some of the crew jumped into the sea and swam until picked up some hours later.

In all these records the commanders and crews of the U-boats are seen face to face and their actions and words are set down without prejudice. There is a tale of a terrible struggle with death in the case of a torpedoed ship, boats smashed, the only two that reached the water being upside down. Some of the crew jumped from the vessel and sought refuge on them.

U-Boat Up Three Times.
The U-boat approached them and ordered the survivors to come on board the submarine. They shouted back that they were capsized and could not move. Three times the submarine came up with a similar invitation; three times the commander received the same reply. Then the U-boat came alongside one of the upturned boats, took the name of the ship and the master and all the details. The crew of the enemy craft was asked by these shipwrecked men to help right their boat for them, but no answer was given, though the Germans must have heard the frantic knockings of one poor chap imprisoned under the capsized boat and who was trying to attract attention to his pitiful plight.

The submarine steamed ahead and put the helm hard over, with the result that the men clinging to the keel of the boat were thrown into the water again. They managed to scramble back to their boat, with this man still underneath it, but they pulled out the plug to give him air, and ten hours later they were rescued.

The Germans take elaborate steps to find out the name of the ship they have sunk and the nature of her cargo. In one case a master, who engaged with his crew bailing out a leaky lifeboat, was hailed by the submarine for the name of his ship. It was given to him, but the commander shouted back that he could not find the name in the shipping list and ordered one of the crew to go on board. The emissary spelt the name and the officer disappeared into the conning tower and three-quarters of an hour later he returned and said he had found the name of the ship.

Photographed Two Negroes.
Another ship carried a crew of 47, two of whom were negroes. The ship was torpedoed in the usual way without warning and sank so rapidly that there was no time to lower the boats, though luckily the entire crew had lifebelts. Seeing a negro in the water, the commander of the submarine took him on board, and as soon as he reached the submarine his wrists were imprisoned and held. They then took

HEARS KAISER DECLARE GERMANY WILL RULE ALL

Los Angeles, Cal.—S. C. Clemensen, once a subject of Denmark and now American citizen, claims to have the "goods on the kaiser." In July, 1901, Clemensen claims he stood within fifty feet of the kaiser at the launching of the battleship Kaiser Carl der Grosse and heard the emperor say he would rule the world in 1917.

"In 1917 our fleet will have supreme power over the sea. Our future lies on the water. We will rule the sea and the land," the kaiser declared on that occasion, Clemensen says.

THE ANTI-RED CROSS IN ALBANTIOCH, ILL.

Mrs. Louis K. Pratt is a prominent clubwoman and chairman of the Liberty bond committee of Fairbanks, Alaska. Fairbanks claims more than 2,000 Red Cross members who are raising funds despite the decreased buying power of their dollar. All bridge clubs are donating their club dues to war purposes; the various women's clubs have collected during the winter every scrap of discarded metal and rubber to be sent to the "States" for the Red Cross at the opening of navigation. One small club raised by delicatessen sales enough money to endow a bed in the Neully hospital, which Alaskan women are trying to support. Their second sale alone netted them $447.60.

a photograph of him and also of the other negro, who was floating on a raft nearby. The first man was then allowed to dive from the submarine and he, too, swam to the raft.

These photographs were clearly intended for German propaganda. Out of the crew of 47 men only 15 are known to have been picked up. The captain of the ship was left on the bridge when the boat went down and was not seen again. The saved men were in the water for hours together, the U-boat as usual submerging and leaving them to their fate.

Among all the tales of cool and splendid behavior, which Sir Rosslyn Wemyss in paying a tribute to the British merchant navy recently described as "beyond all praise," is that of a stewardess of a big liner, which went down, according to one account, in seven minutes after the explosion. The master says: "The stewardess behaved exceptionally well, and with great presence of mind gave muffers and other articles to the crew when they were in the boat." It is in this story that one of the very few acts of humane conduct on the part of a German submarine commander is recorded. "Submarine picked up two of the men in the water himself, after which we went alongside the submarine and took the two men on board."

Among all these records of horror, bravery and cruelty there are little glimmers of something almost approaching comedy. Take, for instance, the record of a little South Coast schooner, which was sunk a some way from home. The first part of the story is that of the master told to the British consul abroad. The master described how, when the ship was struck, three men got into the boat. Before the fourth man could get in an accident occurred and the boat was upset.

The master reported four men drowned—what happened to the fourth man is not clear—and remarked that "those drowned became too excited." His ship had been heavily shelled for a long time, but the German shooting was very bad. The captain and boy, who remained on board, were taken on board the submarine and released five hours later and put on board a foreign ship. The captain was unable to give any description of the submarine: "Captain could not describe submarine. He said he was sent below at once—Step!"

The next part of the story is from one of the men whom the master thought lost. He gives an idyllic picture of the scene before the shelling:

Vessel in Full Sail.
"The vessel had all sail except the mizzen gaff topsail set. The wind was abeam, the vessel on the port tack, heading southeast and east. The master was standing by the helmsman. The mate was talking to the master, both on the lee side of the poop. She was making six or seven knots through the water when the master asked the mate: 'Is that a submarine?' The mate had a look at it and said: 'Yes, it is.' The master took the wheel and ordered all hands to get the boat out. Before the boat got into the water, the submarine started shelling."

Then the disaster happened. The man on the boat reported that "nothing has been heard of vessel since deponent last saw her." It seems that "about three hours after leaving ship boat righted and was holed out." But a most interesting part of the story is missing; for one would like to know whether master and crew met again and what they said to one another.

Says the mate of another little ship: "Master's reason for abandoning ship was that she sank under him."

And, as is but natural, the seaman's pride in his ship is often revealed in these records; as "She went down with hardly a splash, like the lady she always was," and "I shall never get another like her."

COLD IN NORTHERN SIBERIA
Ninety Degrees Below Zero Is Record for the Whole World—Eighty Above in Summer Time.

Turn up your collar, thrust your hands to the bottom of your pockets, and read about the "cold pole" of northern Siberia, where the natives speak patronizingly about Greenland's icy mountains and other such relatively balmy resorts. At the town of Verkhovansk, which would probably never have had any inhabitants if the late czar's government had not sent occasional batches of exiles thither, says Popular Science Monthly, the temperature has been known to drop to 90 degrees below zero, which is a "record" for the whole world.

While the regions about the north and south poles of the earth are cold all the time, the Siberian cold pole gives its inhabitants a comfortable let-up in summer, when the thermometer frequently climbs up into the 80's above zero. During the brief summer season the life-giving rays of the sun, which remains about the horizon day and night for some time during the height of the season, exert an intensely stimulating influence upon the vegetation, and the ground is covered with flowers.

Imitation Leather.
Linseed oil, certain paints, rosin, gum, and a chemical treatment—and we will have a compound as tough and as durable as leather! Such are the wonders of modern chemistry; from substances inelastic and useless of themselves, valuable commercial articles are being made, says the Popular Science Monthly.

The process for producing this imitation leather is based upon one discovered so long ago as 1864. At this time Frederick Walton found out how a durable and sanitary flooring covering could be made. This covering—the forerunner of our modern linoleum—consisted of a strong canvas cloth covered with an oil-and-rosin compound heated and hardened while exposed to the air. A modification gives patent leather.

Modesty Before Rivalry.
William Herschel, "explorer of the heavens," discovered the planet Uranus 137 years ago. At first he was not certain that the strange star was a planet, but subsequent observations by himself and other astronomers proved that such was the case. Herschel carried on his astronomical labors under the patronage of George III and named the planet Georgium Sidis in honor of the English monarch. Other English astronomers refused to accept this designation, and called the planet Herschel, after the discoverer. Continental scientists insisted that the old mythological system should be followed, and this plan was adopted, the name Uranus, suggested by Bode, being now accepted by all the scientific world. The planet Neptune was discovered in 1846.

Power of Mind Over Body.
The true physician will utilize power of the mind over the body. August Comte has said that doctors who bear in mind only the animal side of human nature should confine their practice to animals—they should become veterinary surgeons. At the same time, let us avoid falling into the other extreme. To say that "all is mind" is as wrong as to deny the influence of the mind over the body. Man has both body and mind—brain and brawn. Let us recognize and utilize both, in striving to achieve a high grade of efficiency, for in no other way may this be done. In short, let us avoid extremes. That seems, for many, to be the most difficult of all things.

High Cattle Prices Accompany High Beef Prices

If consumers are to pay less for beef, live-stock raisers naturally will receive less for cattle.

If farmers are paid more for live stock, consumers will necessarily pay more for meat.

Swift & Company pays for cattle approximately 90 per cent of the price received for beef and by-products. The remaining 10 per cent pays for dressing, freight to market, operation of distributing houses, and in most cases, delivery to the retailer. Net profits also have to come out of this 10 per cent.

This margin cannot be squeezed arbitrarily without danger of crippling the only effective means of performing the complex service of converting cattle into meat and distributing this meat to the fighting forces and to consumers.

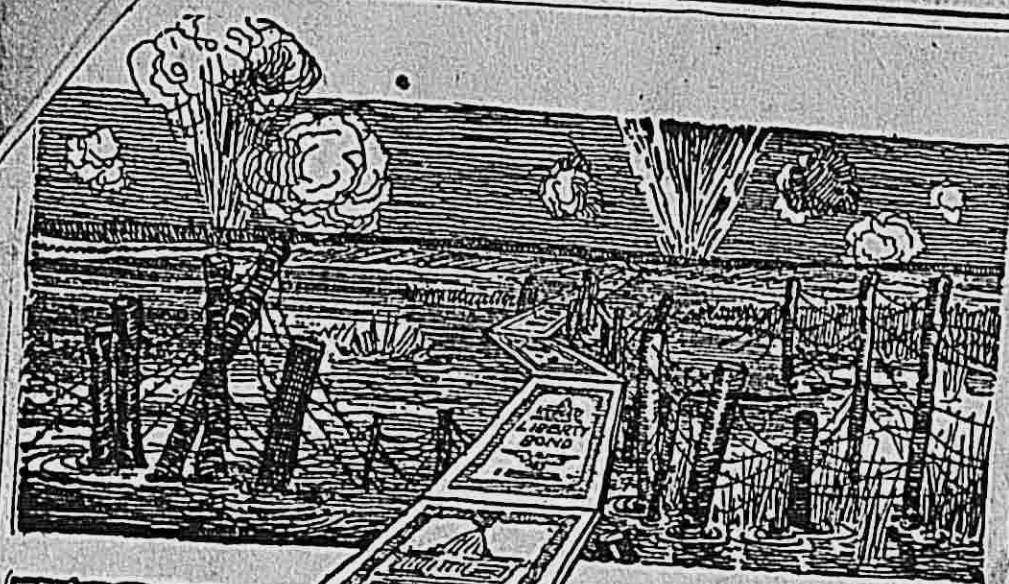

Swift & Company's net profit on beef during 1917 was only 1/4 of a cent per pound. On all products, it was a little less than four cents on each dollar of sales. Complete elimination of these profits would not affect appreciably retail prices of meat, or farm prices of live stock.

Swift & Company will be glad to co-operate in devising methods that will improve conditions in the meat and live stock industry.

FARMER'S SHARE IN THE LOAN

Editor of Waterloo (Ia.) Points to Increase in Prosperity of the Farmer.

By HUGH G. VAN PELT, (Editor, Kimball's Dairy Farmer, Waterloo, Ia.)

From the beginning this war has been a war of financial resources. Germany's officials have been very pronounced in their assertion that the war would be won by the side with the last billion dollars, but Germany can't furnish the last billion.

America can supply the dollars which will win this war. Our resources are conservatively estimated at $250,- 000,000,000 and the annual income for the whole United States at $50,000,- 000,000.

The money is in the hands of the people and to obtain the use of this money, the government must either tax the people or issue bonds.

What share of the bond taking should fall to the farmer? Farm products in 1917 were valued at $21,000,- 000,000, or from $6,000,000,000 to $7,- 000,000,000 more than in 1916. Prosperity, therefore, has come to most sections of the farming districts.

Two Liberty Bond campaigns have resulted satisfactorily in making available the money our government needs to carry on the war. A third Liberty Loan campaign is in progress. The farmer must do his share during this third campaign, as he has done in the previous two. More will be asked of each business and of each individual as the need for funds increases. There are none so good in this country that they must not assist in every way possible toward bringing the war to a successful conclusion. No individual and no form of business can be excepted.

Farming interests have never asked to be shown special consideration when it comes to helping out the government with money. No farmer wishes it to be said of him in years to come that during the great war his money was not working to bring victory. There has never been a crisis in this country when the farmer has not come forward either with personal help or financial aid, and there never will be a crisis when the farmer will not respond with the same admirable spirit as shown by his forefathers.

Can you wash your walls?

You have often wished that you could remove spots and stains from your wall paper. Perhaps the paper was almost new. In that case the marks must remain an eye-sore, or you must go to the expense of repapering.

We can save you all such annoyances. In place of this unsanitary wall paper, we recommend that you use

DEVOE Velour Finish

The Guaranteed

It is an oil paint that gives to walls a beautiful, soft, water-color effect. If it becomes soiled, wash it with soap and water.

Besides being a thoroughly sanitary finish for your walls and ceilings, Devoe Velour Finish also offers artistic possibilities that cannot be obtained with wall paper. Also, it is more economical—lasts longer than wall paper.

We guarantee every can of Devoe we sell. Our customers tell us it gives them perfect satisfaction and that it is very easy to apply.

Be sure to ask us for the new booklet—"Harmony in the Home."

At the meeting of the village board on Monday evening, three applications were received for the job of Marshal. The three applicants were L. H. Felter, the present marshal, John Drury and Wm. Gray. No appointment was made however, as that matter of business was laid over until the next regular meeting which comes the first Tuesday in May.

A service flag has been given to St. Ignace church and is now hanging in the church window. Three stars thereon tell the passerby that that church has given three of her boys to assist the country in helping to suppress evil. The boys are Jas. Cagle who is now with the army in the Philippine Islands, Homer Case now at the American University in Washington and Dr. J. A. Turner who has been appointed Second Lieutenant.

Robert Dean, a nephew of Mrs. J. C. James, who has been with the British forces in France for the past three years and in the trenches two years, in a letter to his aunt, which she received this week, says in part: "We have had our hands full, everyone has their work cut out for them. We have had to give, but we are not beaten, not by a long way and 'Fritz' the name we call the Germans knows he has been up against something. My message to the American boys is 'We will hold out until you come, but hurry'."

While turning a sharp corner in Kenosha Saturday afternoon the steering gear of Charles Faden's Ford broke the car turning turtle and throwing the occupants out. Mrs. Tom Madden of Wilmet was seriously injured and at present is in St. Catherine's Hospital in Kenosha as her hips were injured and her head badly bruised. Charles Faden who was driving sustained a broken shoulder, Miss Florence Faden an injury to one knee, Mrs. Frank Madden a broken wrist and Frank Madden was badly bruised.

The Delta Alpha class are planning a play to be given in the Antioch opera house on Friday evening, May 17.

"Blundering Billie" is the name, and the admission will be 25 cents.

The Antioch Commercial Association will hold a meeting in the village hall, Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock. Matters of vital interest will be discussed. You are urgently requested to be present.

A letter from Ray Webb, received here Tuesday stated that his company was packing and would soon be ready to leave Camp Logan, which of course means that he will in a short time be with the boys "over there."

Don't ask the telephone operator for the time of day from now on, for she is no longer allowed to tell you. Read the Telephone Co., "ad" elsewhere in this issue, and if you forget its warning don't blame the operator when she refuses your request.

A card received by Mrs. Margaret Davis from her son Will, on Saturday last, was mailed at Newburg, Mo., on Thursday and merely stated "We are on our way." Which of course means that he will soon be in France.

On Friday afternoon, May 10, at one o'clock at the high school there will be a demonstration of the various uses of potatoes, and also of a wheatless meal. If you are interested in the conservation of food movement be sure to be present at this meeting.

A large crowd turned out to hear Dr. John W. Randall speak at the opera house last Saturday evening. He was a very convincing speaker and no one could listen to him without being imbued with the spirit of patriotism and a desire to help Uncle Sam at this particular time.

Up to Wednesday evening $53,300 had been raised on Antioch's quota of the third Liberty Loan. There is still $7,600 to raise before the closing of the banks Saturday afternoon. Let us put Antioch "Over the Top" and be able to host of our patriotism by flying an Honor Flag.

George Garland and Geo. D. Palmer both of this place were among the twenty-two young men who left Waukegan for Camp Grant, Rockford, Monday morning. When the boys left Antioch they did not know for a certainty where they would be stationed but they were not long in finding out when they appeared before the board Sunday.

Mrs. Frank Girard last week received three letters from her son Leland Harris, who is now in France. He says that they are sleeping in barns, and that even barns are none too numerous. He further states that it has rained there almost every day. He sends a greeting to Antioch friends and asks them to write. His address is "Leland Harris, Co. A, 128 Inf., U. S. N. G., American Expeditionary Forces, France via., New York."

To the pupils of the school in the Gavin district and its teacher, Mrs. Bertha Stanton belongs the proud distinction of being the first school to prove its patriotism by giving the Red Cross a substantial boost. At a social given in the school house the neat little sum of ten dollars was realized. A check to that amount has just been received by the local society and they promptly extend hearty thanks to the patriotic little pupils of this district. Who will be the next to follow their lead?

See my seed corn samples. Chase Webb

The Antioch Township High School is certainly not lacking in patriotism. The faculty and pupils have purchased Liberty Bonds to the amount of $1460.

War Savings Stamps $225; Thrift stamps $56.72. Making a total of $1781.75, and it also boasts of 22 Red Cross members.

The card party and dance given by Mesdames Bates and Naber at the Queen of the West last Friday evening was unusually successful both socially and financially. A very large crowd was in attendance and the sum of $65.50 was taken in. The expenses were light and amounted to $5.25.

$3.25 of which was spent for cigars and Miss Myrtle Haynes received $2.00 as pianist. Mr. Haynes donated his services as violinist. As the result of their work, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Naber turned into the treasury of the U. S. Boys Relief the tidy sum of $60.25.

PROVEN SWAMP-ROOT AIDS WEAK KIDNEYS

The symptoms of kidney and bladder troubles are often very distressing and leave the system in a run-down condition. The kidneys seem to suffer most, as almost every victim complains of lame back and urinary troubles which should not be neglected, as these danger signals often lead to more dangerous kidney troubles.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, which, so many people say, soon heals the weakness of the kidneys, is a splendid kidney, liver and bladder medicine, and, being an herbal compound, has a gentle healing effect on the kidneys, which is almost immediately noticed in most cases by those who use it.

A trial will convince anyone who may be in need of it. Better get a bottle from your nearest drug store, and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.

BIG HUN DRIVE FOR YPRES IS SMASHED BY ALLIED ARMIES

Powerful Attacks Made by Germans Against British and French Positions.

TEUTONS ARE SLAUGHTERED IN BATTLE ON WIDE FRONT

War Department at Washington Says American Troops Sent to Re-enforce Allies' Armies Have Taken Part in Battle and Have Acquired Themselves Well—122 U. S. Soldiers Decorated by French With War Cross for Bravery in Recent Fighting.

London, April 30.—Field Marshal Haig reported on Monday night that powerful attacks by the Germans against the French and British positions between Meteren and Zillebeke were repulsed, the Germans losing heavily. The attacks were preceded by a most violent bombardment.

The British line held absolutely, but at various points the Germans gained a foothold in the French positions, only to be driven out later from the greater part of this territory.

The Belgians also repulsed heavy attacks, inflicting severe casualties on the enemy.

At certain points along the allied fronts the fighting still continues.

The post near Festubert, north of Givenchy, taken by the Germans last week, was recaptured by the British at night. More than fifty prisoners were taken here, and other prisoners and four machine guns were brought in as a result of raiding operations in sectors further south.

An enemy attack which developed in the vicinity of Loere, west of Mont Kemmel, was repulsed.

Fight on 15-Mile Front.

With the British Army in France, April 30.—The fourth German army during the morning heavily attacked the allied front in Flanders. Prisoners captured have admitted that the German intention is to attempt to capture Ypres.

Severe fighting is reported in both the French and British areas. The attack extends over a front of about fifteen miles.

S. O. S. Signals From Ypres.

London, April 30.—The British troops around Ypres several times after dawn sent up S. O. S. signals for artillery support, telegraphs the Reuters correspondent at the British headquarters in France.

The correspondent adds that the tremendous German bombardments point to the certainty of a German attempt to advance.

An intense bombardment from artillery concentration is in progress from La Bassée to south of Moutholst forest and from Vimpe to Lens.

Americans in Big Battle.

Washington, April 30.—Formal announcement that American troops, sent to re-enforce the allies' armies, have taken part in the fighting is made by the war department in its weekly review of the situation. "Our forces have taken part in the battle," says the statement briefly. "American units are in action east of Amiens. During the various engagements which have raged in this area they have acquitted themselves well."

Help Keep Enemy From Paris.

With the American Forces in Northern France, April 30.—American troops have taken up positions on the French battle front. Under the French high command, in which all ranks have supreme confidence, the American forces face the enemy on the line barring the Germans from Paris and Amiens, where they have been a certain number of days.

122 Americans Win Decoration.

The French army paid a historic tribute to the United States when 122 soldier sons of Massachusetts were decorated with the war cross for bravery displayed in recent fighting. The ceremony, which was held on a picturesque field a short distance from the front-line trenches, was one of the most impressive in which American soldiers have participated since their entry into the war.

One hundred and seventeen men from the One Hundred and Fourth (Massachusetts) regiment, who bore the brunt of the German attack in the Apremont forest on April 12, received medals, as did five men of another regiment who had participated in earlier fighting around Soissons.

Here and there in the line of heroes were spaces representing Americans who were killed or wounded seriously.

British Retake Town From Huns.

London, April 29.—An attack made by the Germans on the northern side of the Flanders salient resulted in the capture of the town of Voormezele,

GIRL TELLS WAR THRILLS

Juliet Goodrich of Chicago Writes How U. S. Heroines Pray for Darkness to Shield Soldiers.

Chicago, April 30.—"Send clouds across the moon!" was her prayer.

Like mammoth black beetles crawling along the white road that led from the French trenches to Epervy came mile after mile of soldier-loaded trucks. The offensive was at its height. The guns thundered closer—closer. The two miles south of Ypres, but they were driven out by a counter-attack, the war office announced on Sunday. Late at night the Germans again attacked on this front.

Yankees Help Check Huns.

Paris, April 29.—Violent artillery fighting occurred north of the Avre (southeast of Amiens) and in the region between Lassigny and Noyon (on the southern side of the Picardy battle front), the war office reported.

French troops repulsed German attacks northwest of Helms and in the sectors of St. Mihiel (near which are stationed the American troops which were attacked by the Germans a week ago), Lunerville (in the vicinity of which there has been an American force) and Le Pretre wood.

Fear Felt for Channel Ports.

London, April 29.—Some of the newspapers appear to be preparing the public for the loss of the channel ports. The Times says:

"There is no denying that the loss of Kemmel hill is a considerable tactical success for the enemy, and it will be well, therefore, to prepare for the receipt of other disagreeable news. If the enemy is able to extend his grip on Kemmel we may be compelled to evacuate Ypres."

"Such evacuation would not inevitably entail the abandonment of Dunkirk, Calais and Boulogne, but it is well to realize that these consequences might ensue. We must remember that the Germans cannot win the war by the occupation of Ypres and the channel ports."

Germans Capture Kemmel.

London, April 27.—The Germans in their attack on the northern battle front have occupied Kemmel hill, Gen. Delma Radcliffe, chief director of military operations at the war office, stated.

[Mount Kemmel has been generally considered by military critics as the key to Ypres.]

French in Counter-Attack.

A counter-attack by French troops against Kemmel hill, the key to Ypres, has brought on a furious battle for this important high ground.

France-British troops on the Somme front east of Amiens also are counter-attacking all along the front from Villers-Bretonneux to opposite Hangard-en-Santerre.

French Hold Ground.

A large part of the ground lost in this region has been retaken, and the official communique issued by the war office in Paris says that the French have re-established themselves in the western portion of Hangard, which village changed hands twice during the day.

On the northern battle front the Germans, in addition to holding Mont Kemmel are in possession of the villages of Kemmel and Drunoutre, Field Marshal Haig reports.

Fierce Fight on Kemmel Hill.

With the British Army in France, April 27.

The French are counter-attacking at Mont Kemmel in an attempt to reclaim the positions taken by the Germans. Thursday's fighting was of a desperate nature and the enemy gains were only made at a frightful cost.

One French regiment to whom was entrusted the defense of the crest of Mont Kemmel, with orders to hold it to the last man, immortalized itself in Thursday's battle. Throughout the long bitter day they clung to their post and sent swirling streams of death from their machine guns down the slopes into struggling masses of German infantry which had surrounded the hill and was trying to battle to the top.

Fight to Last Man.

Some of these fearless polius at the latest reports were still there and the staccato chatter of their rapid fire sent out the message to their general that they were obeying his order to hold or die.

British Take Town and 600 Huns.

London, April 26.—English and Australian troops have recaptured Villers-Bretonneux and taken more than 600 prisoners in that region, Field Marshal Haig reports from headquarters.

American Wounded in Hospital.

Paris, April 25.—American soldiers wounded in the great battle which now is being waged are already arriving at the rear. American wounded and sick to the number of 128 have reached hospital 25. They are from units engaged in the fighting side by side with French and British in stemming the German advance.

Both Sides Use Tanks.

With the British in France, April 26.—The German attack against the French and British lines on the northern front in the Drunoutre-Kemmel sector is continuing. The Teuton assault was intended to pave the way for the capture of the Kemmel hill.

Vigorous British counter-attacks toward Villers-Bretonneux apparently resulted in the reclaiming of a considerable part of the territory lost to the Germans on Wednesday. The battle is still raging.

Tanks went into action on both sides for the first time in history. In the battle about Villers-Bretonneux the German tanks appeared at the beginning of the engagement and by noon the British tanks joined the fray.

American girls who stood by the door of the canteen at Epervy prayed for the soldiers' air bomb shield of blackness.

Juliet Goodrich of Chicago was there. In a letter just received by her aunt, Mrs. M. F. Maguire, 1210 Astor street, she tells of the "wild and tragic days" that succeeded the advance. With what strength delicately reared American girls meet the soldiers who stagger, in sheer fatigue, into the canteen from the trenches, is not told in the letter.

HELP TOMMY TALK

He Plainly Shows Why Buy a Liberty Bond

Lusitania Stoker, Injured Three Brothers and Mother by Huns, Still Fighting

By ALICE AVON.

Of the Vigilantes.

"I never went to school a day in my life and I never thought I would be able to speak in public. But when I lost three brothers 'Over There' and have my mother killed by those German devils in the streets of London, well, I guess you can do more than you ever thought you could. And this war certainly woke me up!"

Thus speaks Tommy Ray, stoker of the Lusitania, in his talks to our boys 'Over There.' "See this arm," says Tommy, indicating his right. "Well I hurt it for good in the stoke hole and on account of my operation they won't let me fight. Can you imagine that? Not let an Irishman fight? Well maybe they can't let me fight but they can't stop me from talking, and now that I know I can talk, even though I never went to school a day in my life, believe me, I'll talk. And I'll get every mother's son of you to volunteer and let those German devils 'Over There.'"

Tommy means it too. He even promises all the recruits he gains, passing the examination, three months to be in advance, a dollar a week, newspapers and magazines. And after that he intends to keep right on talking. Let's help him. Even if we can't supply tobacco in advance, or periodicals, we can talk. Not narrow minded prejudiced talk, not hopeless silly talk about if so and so did so, I would do so too, or even about what you would do if you were 'Over There,' or if you were in President Wilson's place.

Remember that every building must have a firm foundation if it would brace the elements, every head must be on strong shoulders to bear itself erect. And so, we the fighters for Principle, for Justice, for Liberty and Democracy must be the shoulders for Mr. Wilson's head.

Let's talk. The best thing to talk about now. Talk that will help. I mean, help Uncle Sam. Help you and me and all those 'Over There.' Let's talk for the Third Liberty loan. Uncle Sam will appreciate your giving, if it be the buying of many bonds or the buying of only one at $100 a week. And above all remember that you are only investing your money and at 4 1/2 per cent too. And the investment spells freedom for the world, so invest and keep right on talking.

IF AMERICA LOST THIS WAR

By HILDEGRADE HAWTHORNE.

Of the Vigilantes.

Have you, yourself, sat down to consider soberly what it would mean if Germany, and not we, should win the war?

With the war won, she could hold over us the threat of invasion—and we know what invasion by the Prussians means. But, beaten, we could not prevent such an invasion, even though in the long ending we might manage to drive out the invader, for the country is great. But if we did do this at last, picture what the country we love would be reduced to first. Stare at the war pictures from France and Belgium and the invaded portions of Italy, and you won't require much effort of the imagination to visualize your own town or village or peaceful farming country under the Prussian heel.

If we, incapable of resisting invasion, yielded to the Prussian demands, what would these be?

Germany wants much after the wasting of four years or nearly that of war. We should have to repay her her losses by huge indemnities, which would put a staggering burden on all of us. We would live under a threat, a threat from the most brutal nation the world has ever known. If we bowed to that threat, and a beaten nation must bow, then the very spirit of America, all we mean by the word life as we interpret it, would be murdered. Better that we ourselves should die, and our children with us. The hope of our fathers, the work of us all, this nation, our individual character and freedom, all ended. The price of Liberty has been paid by this nation twice before. To fail now—to fail now! Shall our noble dead have died in vain, and we bow to the oppressor? Or shall we bring freedom fully to earth at last, and with the soldiers of our great allies see the dawn of a tomorrow whose foundations were laid in Yorktown and Appomattox, by men whose blood runs in our veins, whose hopes and beliefs are our own?

Think of this when you are asked to buy Liberty bonds or Thrift stamps.

Temperamental Science.

"Do electrical wires have to be made of well-tempered metal?"

"I don't know. They seem to get in to mischief every time they're crossed."

Inefficiency in the Navy.

First Bluejacket—Hullo, mate, I thought you was ashore with the captain, playing golf.

Second Bluejacket—Well, so I was. It's like this 'ere. 'E gives me 'is sticks to carry, and then takes one and puts a 'll white ball on top of a bit o' sand and, my word, he catches that ball a fair swipe. Must 'a' gone miles. Then 'e turns to me and sez, 'D'ld yar see where that went to?' So I sez smugly, like, 'Out o' sight from the moment o' impact, sir,' and 'e sez, 'Go back on board, ye blinkin' fathead!

ONLY NEED TO WASTE

Writer Points Out Reason Why It Is Not Hard for America to Save People

I do not know of a thing that everyone of us needs to keep his consciousness than saving to ever and whenever possible, most of us are prone to forget our greatest asset at this time—the act and extent of what we can save a people and as individuals we have been necessarily and disgracefully wasteful, have spent money, food, energy, productivity, simply because we were too lazy and indifferent to get no more than we needed to satisfy our reasonable desires. Seriously, that past wastefulness is just now about our greatest asset. We can save what we must without involving a degree of real sacrifice which the French, Belgian, and English people had at once to face. As I look upon it, saving at a real cost to one's comfort, ideals, and perhaps health is not an easy thing, though a very fine one. But saving for such easy-going reckless-spending people as we have been, means so little sacrifice of anything necessary or worth while that a man or woman will be some sort of a yellow cur or nameless pup not to do his or her utmost every day and every hour to save, save, save—and win.—By Roland G. Usher of the Vigilantes, Author of Pan-American.

Altogether Too Realistic.

The critic seemed struck with the picture.

"This snowstorm painting is very fine indeed," he said to the artist. "It almost makes me feel cold to look at it."

"Yes, it must be realistic," admitted the other. "A fellow got into my studio one day in my absence, looked at the picture, and unconsciously put my fur overcoat on before he went out!"

The chief burden of a woman's life is her neighbor.

WILLING TO SHARE DANGER

Brave French Woman No More Afraid of Air Raid Than Her Husband Was of Shells.

All Paris is laughing over the sangfroid of a young married midwife on the occasion of a recent air raid on Paris.

The heroine resides on the top story of a large apartment house, and when the warning was given was sound asleep.

The concierge, finding that she did not descend to the underground shelter, raced upstairs and banged at the door.

After repeated hammerings he woke the lady up, and called to her to immediately descend to the basement as a raid was on and she was in great danger on the top floor.

The reply he got was:

"Go away and let me sleep. My husband is in the trenches. Do you think he gets into a dugout every time a shell falls? Why should I, therefore, be frightened of an air raid?"

Seen Through.

"Germany loves the little nations—Belgium, Roumania, Serbia, and so on—and now it appears that she loves the big nations, like Russia, too."

The speaker was Saburo Okabe of the Japanese embassy.

"But all of us," he went on, "see through Germany as clearly as the pretty Chicago heiress saw through the titled fortune hunter."

"You love me?" she said to the fortune hunter, lightly. "Oh, yes, of course—you love for my pelf alone."

Mr. and Mrs. Swenson can be very proud of their sons as they are the only family in this vicinity with three enlisted men and they have all made excellent records since their enlistment.

SACRIFICES MUST BE MADE

Maj. Gen. Parker Says Put Heart and Soul in Liberty Loan Boost.

By MAJ. GEN. JAMES PARKER, [Commandant, Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.]

This war has lasted nearly four years, and there is no end in sight. Most wars come to an end as a result of exhaustion and despair on the part of one side or the other. We contend we have saved our allies from defeat by going into this war with our infinite resources, but if we wish to impress upon our enemies that fact, we will have to show by our action that we are heart and soul in the struggle, and are ready to make every sacrifice to succeed. As yet we have made few sacrifices as compared with our allies. England, for many months has been expending money at the rate of over one billion of dollars a month, and France and Italy have been doing the same thing, proportionately.

In France, England and Italy almost every woman is in black, almost every family in mourning. This is the "supreme sacrifice" they have been making in the cause of humanity. We also have our dearest and best enlisted in this war. Must we, also, sacrifice them? That depends upon the attitude of our people. Our country has made what seems to us a stupendous effort in the way of preparation. But it is only a beginning. We must show by the action of our people that the resources of this enormous country are ready to be poured out for victory.

The Germans have declared we are not a warlike nation, that we are slaves of the dollar. They do not believe we are in earnest. They do not as yet believe that anything we do will save our allies. They have gained in heart through the defeat of Russia, and they believe they can crush our allies before we will come to their assistance. What, then, can we do to save our country?

We must vote for this war. We must register our ballots in favor of its prosecution to the death. This is the best way by general subscription to the Liberty loans. Every person of mature age, man or woman, should invest in these bonds. Those who have invested before should invest again. We want to show our enemy that the tens of the American people, without regard to origin or race, demand that this thing be put through. Let those who wish to register and vote for justice, humanity and peace subscribe.

But They Can Talk. A large majority of Turkish women are unable to read or write their own difficult language.
